

COVID-19 training plan

with the need for social distancing, in-person training sessions are impractical and unsafe.

by leveraging online learning software and combining it with digitally-remote discussion, the empathy institute is here to help. custom-built online courses for clients and free use of our platform for professionals.

along with every other member of our industry, we have seen conferences, training sessions, and workshops rightfully cancelled due to COVID-19.

we are taking this opportunity to create rich learning opportunities for our clients in lieu of face-to-face presentations by using our online learning centre to custom-build interactive courses on a wide variety of equity, diversity, and inclusion topics that allow for maximum flexibility, seamless scheduling, and optimal learning.

for those trainers and facilitators who are looking for more flexibility, we will also be offering free use of our online learning software to help you build your own.

follow-up virtual discussions to maximize learning outcomes.

following the completion of their custom online course, the teams we are working with will come together with us for virtual discussions via video-conference to dig deeper into our content and to ask questions of us and each other.

using this hybrid model, we hope to continue helping organizations and their teams grow while prioritizing community-care and safety and allowing for flexibility.

we are all called on to support one another right now, and we are here to do our small part.

we are also offering free equity, diversity, and inclusion support for all business owners seeking help to support their teams during this time.
for this and all other inquiries, please connect with us online:

<http://empathyinstitute.org>

mike@empathyinstitute.org

1.

custom
e-learning

2.

virtual
discussion

tei the empathy
institute.